2. During the period from 15 to 28 September, the barracks installation in Rosslau on Highway 187 north of Dessau was completely reconditioned including the attics. Trucks hauling new metal cots daily entered the installation until 27 September. The trucks came from the direction of Dessau.

The column came from the direction of Dessau. At 8 p.m. on 23 September, a train consisting of about nine boxcars with personnel and an undetermined number of flat cars carrying 3 T-34/85 tanks, about 10 guns and several trucks went to Rosslau from the direction of Magdeburg. Other tank and artillery units arrived at the barracks installation in Dessau-Rosslau prior to 28 September.

3. During the period from 15 to 28 September, the four training areas in the area of Dessau-Aken were still occupied as previously. On 15 September, pile bridges were built with temporary construction material and iron structures which were floated into place with ferries. The ferries were removed when vessels approached. Practices with temporary construction material and heavy equipment not previously seen were daily held during the period from 19 to 23 September. Small bridges built with three-section pontoons and temporary construction material were also constructed daily on the waters near Wildensee southeast of Dessau. Although the practicing units obviously strove to employ realistic tactics, saw soldiers crowded at the construction sites.

[redacted] document. [redacted] the artillery battalion which arrived on 4 October belongs to the 54th Arty Div (38) in Potsdam. The arrival of this unit as well as the preparations made in the installation in Rossau and the fact that the unidentified engineer regiment of the GOC stayed in the Jessau-Wien training area tend to indicate that large fall exercises will be held in the area of Jessau.
